

PART 3 – AREA-SPECIFIC MATTERS / PRECINCT / Matakā Station precinct

Matakā Station precinct

Overview

Matakā Station is a conservation and farm estate on the Purerua Peninsula at the northern end of the Bay of Islands. It comprises 30-lot residential house sites, plus farm and workers residences with an operational sheep and cattle farm and a large private conservation estate totalling approximately 1075 hectares. The farm, conservation areas and common areas are managed by a residents' association. The conservation areas are approximately 350 hectares and are home to one of the most significant kiwi populations in New Zealand.

Matakā Station has considerable cultural and historic significance, being associated with Māori occupation from at least the 14th century AD, early European contact and settlement. The station is adjacent to Rangihoua Pā and a significant number of archaeological sites, including pā sites, have been identified within the station. Maunqa Matakā is the highest point within the station and is one of five pou (boundary markers) for Ngāpuhi.

The scale of Matakā Station presents a significant opportunity to restore ecological values and natural character of this coastal environment at the northern entrance to the Bay of Islands. The purpose of the Matakā Station precinct is to enable the continued joint management of the land for farming and conservation purposes, while providing for limited residential development and common facilities within identified areas. This joint management approach is necessary to support ongoing predator control and existing extensive indigenous vegetation, which in turn will continue to contribute to the protection of kiwi and other fauna, allowing these populations to flourish.

The station has nearly 13 kilometres of coastline. It contains areas of very steep topography, with coastal cliffs, spurs and ridgelines with inland areas of undulating and more gently sloping land. The precinct provides for 30 house sites and the construction of access to these house sites. The house sites have been sensitively sited to be set back from the immediate coastal edge or are sited further inland. Existing vegetation provides mitigation and together with the topography and revegetation, serves to visually integrate development with the environment.

The zoning of the land within the precinct is Rural Production. The objectives, policies, rules and standards of the underlying Rural Production zone apply in addition to the provisions of the precinct, except that:

- All precinct rules with the same activity description prevail over the equivalent Rural Production zone rules.
- Rural Production zone standards RPROZ-S2 and RPROZ-S5 apply to the precinct. RPROZ-S1 Maximum height applies to parts of the precinct not within ONL or the coastal environment; it does not apply to buildings or structures on a House Site or within Areas 1, 2 or 3 shown on Precinct Plan 1. For the avoidance of doubt, PRECX-S1 prevails over RPROZ-S1 in relation to new buildings or structures and relocated buildings and extensions or alterations to existing buildings or structures for a residential unit or minor residential unit.

The underlying Rural Production zone rules apply when the precinct does not include a rule for the same activity.

The coastal fringe of the precinct is within the coastal environment and areas of high natural character and outstanding natural landscape are identified within much of the coastal environment. The objectives and policies in the Natural Features and Landscapes and Coastal Environment chapters apply in addition to the provisions of the precinct. However, the following rules and standards in the Coastal Environment and Natural Features and Landscapes chapters do not apply within the precinct:

- NFL-R1 New buildings or structures and relocated buildings and extensions or alterations to existing buildings or structures; NFL-R3 Earthworks or indigenous vegetation clearance (but only in relation to earthworks and indigenous vegetation clearance managed under PRECX-R9); NFL-R6 Farming; RNFL-S1 Maximum height; NFL-S2 Colours and materials and NFL-S3 Earthworks or indigenous vegetation clearance (but only in relation to earthworks and indigenous vegetation clearance managed under PRECX-R9).
- CE-R1 New buildings or structures and relocated buildings and extensions or alterations to existing buildings or structures; CE-R3 Earthworks or indigenous vegetation clearance (but only in relation to earthworks and indigenous vegetation clearance managed under PRECX-R9); CE-R4 Farming; CE-S1 Maximum height; CE-S2 Colours and materials; and CE-S3 Earthworks or indigenous vegetation clearance (but only in relation to earthworks and indigenous vegetation clearance managed under PRECX-R9).

All other District-Wide objectives, policies, rules and standards in Part 2 of the District Plan apply.
